The consistently good work which Joe Wood is doing for the Red Sox makes that team's chances look much brighter than they did earlier in the campaign. Wood has recently pitched two brilliant games, one against the White Sox and the other yesterday against Cleveland. This seems to indicate that he has regained his old form and can now be relied upon to win a large majority of his games. Foster, another of the Sox pitchers, also is going well, and there are several American League clubs which would be benefited by the acquisition of Johnston.

Neither the White Sox nor Tigers are finding the sailing smooth since coming east. Neither of these teams has been able to make any headway in this section, although Detroit started off with a run of four victories out of five games played with the Highlanders. Boston has held back both of the leaders, and last Saturday both the Athletics and Nationals held them in check. Boston is making rapid gains on the leaders, and it seems only a question of time when it will be within whispering distance of both the Sox and Tigers.

JOHNSON IS TO FACE SOX IN THIRD STRUGGLE TODAY

Scott or Russell May Oppose Him-Too Much Rest Is Handicapping Jim Shaw in His Pitching.

Walter Johnson will pitch the third came of the White Sox series today and he will most likely be opposed by either Jim Scott or Reb Russell. The series now stands even up, both teams having won three games, four of these peing played in Chicago. Johnson lost his game to the Sox out in Chicago on recent trip, but it was an off day for the big pitcher, on which he did ot have his usual stuff.

Scott and Russell have generally been effective against the Griffmen, though there have been occasions when they were found easy and driven out of the Manager Griffith will not make any change in his lineup today, though it is likely that he will allow Eddie Ainsmith to catch Johnson, as he has ione in most of the games this season.

Bruce, the V. P. I. College outfielder, got into a uniform yesterday afternoon and took part in the batting and fielding practice. Bruce is a good sized fellow and takes a nice swing at the ball. He is a left handed hitter, but a right handed thrower, which makes him available for any of the outfield positions.

Giving Jim Shaw four and five days' rest between games is not the proper way to get good results from the big pitcher. If Shaw is to be one of the team's regulars he must be worked more regularly. A perusal of his work this spring shows that whenever Shaw has been rested but three days he has pitched in splendid form, while when his idleness has extended over that time he has not lasted more than an inning or two because of his wildness. Shaw is a big, strong youngster, who ought to be given a lot of work. He would prosper if pushed, and idle days are the worst thing for him.

Walter Johnson's case is similar. He has never shown his form this spring when he has been kept out of the game for four or five days. It has been five days since he appeared in a game. June 10 he pitched and beat St. Louis. It will be interesting to note what sort of form Johnson will show in the game today. It will be exceptional if he is at his best after being idle for five days.

Big Ed Walsh took a fifteen-minute tional if he is at his best after being idle for five days.

Big Ed Walsh took a fifteen-minute work-out from the mound yesterday afternoon and showed a surprising lot of stuff. Walsh was so enthusiastic over his showing that he feels it is only a question of time when he will be able to take his regular turn on the rubber. The members of the Sox team were astonished at Walsh's great speed and the freeness of his arm, and they believe that if the big fellow can come through their chances for the pennant will be greatly increased.

But no correct line on Walsh will be had until he gets into a championship game and faces a first-class ball team. Pitching in practice is quite different from what it is in a game.

Eddie Collins had a busy day in the field yesterday, handling eight sharp grounders without a wobble. The playing field was soft and this fact made it possible, for Collins to get in front of several drives which on a fast ground would have been clean base hits. At the bat Collins and Fournier had clean records. Collins walked once, had two sacrifices and two hits to his credit.

Fournier hit safely the first four times up and on his final trip he drove out a long sacrifice fly which allowed Weaver to score the final run of the game.

Besides walking three men in the two innings he pitched, Shaw had himself in the hole on nearly every batter who safe drives made off his delivery. A pitcher without control is absolutely helpless regardless of how much stuff he may have.

Eddle Foster hit for a double and a triple in four times up. His double resulted in a run. for Shanks followed with a hit, but though there was but one out when he tripled in the sixth he was left. Dan Moeller had a similar experience in the eighth, hitting for three bases with one down and like Foster he died at third base.

Fournier had sixteen put-outs at first base, showing how many balls were driven into the infield by the local batters. Had there been a dry fast field many of these hits would have gone safe and there would have been a much closer score at the finish.

One thing that Rowland seems to have accomplished is making his team hustle. It is a fighting aggregation which is never beaten until the last man is out. Rowland always is on the coaching lines encouraging and driving his players. He is a vigorous coacher and seems to get everything out of his men.

Next Monday a double header with Boston is scheduled here. This is just one of the freaks of the schedule which was made with the aim to avoid as many conflicts with the Federal League as possible. New York and Philadelphia also have a couple of games scheduled for the same day.

President Johnson said yesterday that in due time double-headers would be entirely done away with, so far as it was possible. "Of course, arrangements must be made to force a team to play out its full schedule, so far as possible, but that is the only time that double-headers should occur. I am in favor of a schedule which will leave open dates on which postponed games can be played. The two games scheduled here with Boston Monday were made necessary by the schedule, which is free from as many conflicts as possible."

The White Sox victory and the fact that the Yankees won two games from the St. Louis Browns shoved the Nationals back in the second division, the margin being decidedly slim, however, as a victory today and a defeat for the Yanks would once more reverse positions of the two teams.

President Ban Johnson denied having threatened to put Ty Cobb out of base ball if he wrote the story insinuating that the White Sox had a tipping bureau on their own grounds.

"I have never read Cobb's story, and have made absolutely no comment about his writing for that very reason. I was quoted on the subject without ever having been seen, and have been done an injustice."

VISITORS WIN THEIR MATCHES. Pennsylvania Tennis Title May Stray From Home.

PHILADELPHIA, June 15 .- Two outof-town entries, J. J. Armstrong, the former Minnesota champion, and F. M. B. Fisher, the New Zealand titleholder, won their matches in the opening round of the twenty-second annual Pennsylyesterday on the Merion courts. Armstrong beat Norman W. Swayne, a loca player with quite a reputation, in straight sets, 6-3 and 6-4, while Fisher conquered E. W. Johnson, another Philadelphia man, after two exciting and well played sets, 8-6 and 7-5.

Among the headliners in the tourney are Wallace F. Johnson, A. D. Thayer, Craig Biddle and W. T. Tilden.

LONDON, June 15 .- The disastrous balance sheets of the big professional clubs which have so far been issued offer no hope of a resumption of foot ball in England next September. Shaw started in by displaying wildness and incidentally allowing base hits when in trouble. As a result his term was cut short, though he might as well have been left in for the work it would have given him, for Gallia did but little better. The Sox got under way right from the jump. Felsch and Weaver both drew passes, and after Eddie Collins had sacrificed and advanced the runners Fournier came through with a single to right which brought both home.

In the second, after Roth struck out, Schalk hit safely and Blackburn was walked. Clootte sacrificed and then

There was a lull until the seventh, when the Sox scored two more. Weaver walked and E. Collins sacrificed. Weaver scored when Fournier singled and Milan fumbled. J. Collins also hit safely and two runs were over.

In the ninth a walk to Weaver, E. Collins' sacrifice and Fournier's long sacrifice fly scored Weaver with the final run.

The Nationals got their two runs in the second and fourth. In the second Milan started off with a double, and, after moving to third on an infield out, scored while Morgan was being thrown out at first. Foster's 'double and Shanks' single gave them their last run in the fourth. After that Foster tripled with one out and could not score, and Moeller had a similar experience in the eighth. The score:
